Staggering Promises

When Paul said that God “calls those things which do not exist as though they did” (Rom. 4:17), he laid the foundation for all that is involved in hope. Hope enables us to see the invisible. The apostle also said, “Hope that is seen is no longer hope” (Rom. 8:24). We do not walk by sight, but by a faith rooted in what God has promised. Things we are unable to see physically are seen through the eyes of faith as clearly as though they did. This truth is best understood by looking at Abraham’s hope.

God’s promises to Abraham were staggering, but not to Abraham. How was it possible that a man well beyond the age most men have children and a woman whose age gave no hope of ever giving birth would be parents so late in life? Yet, when God promised this would happen, “Abraham staggered not at the promise of God” (Rom. 4:20, KJV).

God’s promises are staggering to most. Atheists mock our faith by saying, “Do not give me my pie in the sky by and by. I want my pie before I die.” The ancients said, “Let us eat, drink for tomorrow we die” (1 Cor. 15:32). This view of life might bring momentary “pleasure,” but the future is filled with hopelessness. His promises are also staggering to those with weak faith, but Abraham’s faith was strong (Rom. 4:19).

God’s staggering promises allow the faithful to ignore external circumstances. In the midst of adversity, many turn their attention to their problems, but this was not the focus of the hope on which Abraham made life’s choices. The Bible said that he did not consider the “facts” and did not waver in unbelief (Rom. 4:19-20). Instead of looking outward, he looked upward. The hope that governed Abraham is the same hope we have when we anchor our faith in Christ.

As we, this month, Anchor our Hope in Christ, consider Abraham’s hope

God’s staggering promises are tied to the nature of God. Abraham knew that what God had promised He was able to perform. Throughout the Bible, the faithfulness of God is affirmed eleven times, but it is implied in every dealing mankind has with Him. God says it, and that settles it! When we embrace His faithfulness our view of life and its problems are drastically changed.

God’s promises have never failed, not even one time. When the Jews had conquered Canaan, the Divine record said, “Not a word failed of any good thing which the Lord had spoken to the house of Israel. All came to pass” (Josh. 21:45). Not even one word! This is why we can anchor our hope in the Lord and trust every single promise He has made. Anchor your faith in Him, and then when you come to the end of your life, you can look back and know that not a single word of all his promises have failed! Anchor your hope in Him!

“He Saw Them”

Do you know the verse that says, “The eyes of the Lord are on the righteous”? Is that verse in the Old Testament or the New Testament? Regardless of which answer you gave to that question, you’re right. We know it best from 1 Peter 3:12, “The eyes of the Lord are on the righteous.” When Peter wrote that, he was quoting from Psalm 34:15, “The eyes of the Lord are on the righteous.” Does that reality give you comfort?

Imagine that you lived during the lifetime of Jesus, when the Lord God took on flesh. Imagine the literal, human eyes of the Lord falling on you and how that would make you feel. For even in that day, the eyes of the Lord Jesus fell on those who were His people. Imagine Him looking at you.

One of my favorite instances is when Jesus “saw them straining at rowing” (Mark 6:48). On this occasion, Jesus was on a mountain alone (Matt. 14:23), in the middle of the night (Mark 6:48), during a great storm (John 6:18), and His disciples were three to four miles out in the sea (John 6:19), straining at rowing (Mark 6:48). In the midst of all this turmoil, storms and troubles, “He saw them.” Do you know that “the eyes of the Lord are on you” in the struggles and storms of life? What a comfort!

Imagine the literal, human eyes of the Lord falling on you.

During the last week of His life, Jesus was teaching in the temple and watched as “the people put money into the treasury” (Mark 12:41). A poor widow, living in poverty, came and “out of her poverty put in all that she had, her whole livelihood” (12:44). Can you imagine what must have been going through her mind? Not just on that day, but every day of her life, as she struggled day in and day out to survive. Luke tells us that “He saw” her “putting in two mites” (Luke 21:2). What a hard life she was living. No one seemed to care. But, the Lord did! He saw her! He saw her life’s struggles! He saw her generosity! What a comfort!

There are numerous other occasions in the life of Jesus when “He saw” people in various circumstances. There was the day when four men broke through a roof to lower their paralyzed friend down to Jesus, and “He saw their faith” (Luke 5:20). There was the day “when He saw the multitudes” and “was moved with compassion for them, because they were weary and scattered, like sheep having no shepherd” (Matt. 9:36). There was the time when, while He was escaping an attempted stoning by the Jews, “He saw a man who was blind from birth” (John 8:59-9:1).

Today, it is no different. Jesus is still living. And, He still sees what is happening in your life and in your heart. Take comfort knowing that as “He saw them,” He also sees you!

Are you a Christian?

His name is Christian. He has a wife, but there are troubles. There are issues in the relationship, and they are currently separated. He has a son living with him—he is 5. Christian loves his son very much. His heart is heavy—something many of us can relate to. His friends counsel him, “Talk with Josh. Study the Bible with Josh.” So, there we sat. Late at night in a dimly lit room with the Bible open.

He began, and I listened. He opened up about what was hurting him and asked, “What does the Bible say about that?” So, we read the Bible. We read in Philippians 4:6-13 (the 23rd Psalm of the New Testament) that we are to be “anxious for nothing.” We read about trusting in God and thinking on things from above. We read about how we can find contentment in any situation and that with God we can.

We then went to Colossians 3:1-15 and read that finding peace starts with a resurrection and getting rid of the old man and replacing it with the new. We read about what the new man looks like in Christ. We then went to Romans 6:1-6 and talked about what it means to be resurrected with Christ in baptism. We read about the death that takes place and resurrection that we can have in Christ.

We went to Psalm 1 and read about the man that meditated on the law of the Lord day and night. We went to Proverbs 1:1-7. There we read about what Solomon wanted for his sons and how we can find it through a respect for God.

He then asked, “What should I do for my son?” I told him that he already knew he needed to be in Christ. That he needs to make that important in his own life. I told him his son needs to see that it is important to you. He needs to see you pray, and he needs to see you read the Bible. He needs to know that the Bible is the only guide for your family. And, you need to love him and show him that God loves him. He said he could do that. We ended the study with a prayer, and he said that it had helped him. He said, “You have no idea how timely you being here is.” He has some things to think about as he processes all that was discussed.

Why would I tell that story? It is not about me or my glory. It isn’t really about Christian either. His is just the name with the story. We all know a “Christian” that needs the same message. Many of us have been in Christian’s place. Not the same details but in a place with a heavy heart needing to hear a message from God. You have something so precious in your hands when you hold the Bible. You have no idea how timely it is. My prayer for all the “Christians” out there is that they would turn to God and seek Him.

My prayer for all the “Christians” out there is that they would turn to God and seek Him.

The finger of God

During the ministry of Jesus on this earth, demons—who were under the sway of Satan, “the ruler of the demons” (Luke 11:15)—were permitted, by God, a certain (but limited) exercise over individuals. The purpose of allowing demon-possession seemed to be to prove Jesus’ power and authority over all things, including the spirit realm (cf. Matt. 12:28; Mark 1:27). Demon-possession ceased when the age of miracles ceased (Zech. 13:2; 1 Cor. 13:8-12).

But the focus of this article is on one expression of Jesus about His Divine power over evil. The Son of God said, “But if I cast out demons with the finger of God...” (Luke 11:20). Think about that. How much power does God have over the devil, over evil, over the power of darkness? So much power that with the “flick of His finger,” He can dismiss them.

What’s the point for us? Our God has the power, just in His finger, to thrust Satan aside from troubling us! Have you asked Him to do that lately? “Deliver me from the evil one!” – DS

Giving Him what He wants

Did you ever receive a gift that you didn’t want? Why didn’t you want it? Each person has their own tastes, likes, preferences, etc. If a sushi-lover excitedly gives his favorite sushi to a sushi-hater, it does not mean that the gift will be as excitedly received as it was given. For a gift to be appropriate, it must take into account the receiver’s tastes, likes, preferences, etc.

Do you think a gift has ever been given to God that He didn’t want? Read passages like Isaiah 1:11-17 and Amos 5:21-27, and you’ll discover that God has rejected gifts that man has offered to Him. Yet, there is another kind of gift that can be “a sweet-smelling aroma, an acceptable sacrifice, well pleasing to God” (Phil. 4:18). What’s the difference? If someone offers to God a gift (or a worship), how could God reject a well-intentioned, heart-felt, personally-valued gift?

God must be regarded as holy (Lev. 10:3). All that we offer to Him must be holy (Rom. 12:1). Our gifts to Him must be what He wants, and not what we think He would or should want! – DS
