Thoughts As This Year Ends

We are just days away from the end of another year of our time together on this earth. It is a good time for reflections, and so I want to share with you some of the spiritual lessons the past twelve months have brought to me. I am not the same person I was when 2016 began. I have learned much this year.

I have learned more about living close to God and becoming His friend. A few years ago I purchased the one book, other than the Bible, which has impacted my relationship to God most. It is entitled Becoming God's Friend, written by my son, Jonathan. It is a study of the maturing faith of Abraham, who near the end of his life learns to live as the friend of God (Jas. 2:23). After reading it, I vowed that I would become, as much I could, a friend of God.

This year, I have read that book through twice, and my faith in God's providence grows. God's friend long ago told his son that "God would provide" (Gen. 22:8), and I am learning how to live closer to my Friend who provides for me.

I have learned more about God's desire to answer my prayers. Opportunities for aging preachers diminish in number, but more than a thousand times I have asked my Friend to open doors before me. I have been amazed at how many invitations to preach I have received. I asked Him so often to help me find people to teach, and in so many remarkable ways people have been brought into my life. The more I ask, the more He has given to me.

I have learned more about the vital role of my family in enhancing my relationship to God. Judie and I have four children and thirteen grandchildren. Years ago, I heard an older preacher say (OK, I know that I am now an older preacher), "If I saved the whole world and failed to teach my own children, I think I would have wasted my life." I am so thankful that all our offspring have been baptized into Christ. While one has left the Lord and sometimes I grieve as I see a weakening of faith in some of them, John said, "I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in the truth" (3 John 4). I have learned even more this year of the joy of having children (and grandchildren) who embrace His values.

I have learned more about the blessing God has given me in my marriage. Judie's health has not been the best this past year, and this has helped me treasure our moments together. It has been the best year we have ever had. Her tenacious spirit in dealing with pain has taught me much. She is a constant source of spiritual encouragement to me.

A new year lies before each of us. It should be exciting as we learn the lessons He teaches us from the experiences of our lives. Let's make the best of it!

A new year lies before each of us. God help us to learn the lessons it brings.

"Whatever you do, don't miss heaven!"

There was an old preacher who loved his children dearly and longed for them to live right. As they grew older, he did not want to browbeat them or make them think he was always "preaching at them," so he looked for a way to lovingly and gently encourage them. He came up with his own heartfelt catchphrase, "Whatever you do, don't miss heaven!"

As each child graduated and moved out of the house, he heartily urged, "Whatever you do, don't miss heaven!" As they began to experiment with the "pleasures" and the "ways" of the world, he gently implored, "Whatever you do, don't miss heaven!" Then, as they all gathered around his bed, with tears in their eyes, watching their adoring father take his last breaths on this side of eternity, they heard him whisper again, "Whatever you do, don't miss heaven!"

What sage advice! Consider how this should become the motto for each of us!

When Satan comes calling, whatever you do, don't miss heaven! There is certainly a momentary pleasure to be found in sin, but Moses learned to weigh temptation in the balance and see the lasting pleasure in "the reward" that awaited him (Heb. 11:24-26). View every temptation through the eternal ramifications that it can have.

Have you "set your mind on things above" or "on things of the earth"?

When considering the one whom you will marry, whatever you do, don't miss heaven! When the children of Israel moved into the temporal Promised Land of Canaan and married those of a different faith, "they forgot the Lord their God" and "served their gods" (Judg. 3:5-7), and they missed the eternal Promised Land of heaven. View your future spouse through the eternal impact he/she will have on you.

When considering your choice of career and your choice of hobbies, whatever you do, don't miss heaven! Some things in life (like a job) are a necessity; some things in life (like hobbies) are optional. Yet, all things in life (whether we consider them necessities or options) must be evaluated in light of that which is "earthly" and that which is "eternal" (2 Cor. 5:1-8). View every decision of life through the eternal effect that it will have on your soul.

When considering the place of the church in your life, whatever you do, don't miss heaven! The church cannot take a secondary role in your life, off to the side, with occasional attention, for Jesus taught that we must "seek [it] first" (Matt. 6:33). View the priority to which you give the church through the eternal magnitude that it will have on you.

Friend, what is heaven worth to you? Have you "set your mind on things above" or "on things of the earth" (Col. 3:1-2)? Whatever you do, don't miss heaven!

Do You Know Where Your Children Are?

After the riots and civil unrest that took place in the summer of 1967, many cities across the nation enacted a mandatory youth curfew of 10:00 p.m. As a result, a reminder to parents was given on air before the late night news from the late 60's and into the 80's. The reminder was, "It is 10:00 p.m. Do you know where your children are?" This public service announcement targeted those of Generation X which, according to a study by High Beam Research in 2004, were the most under parented and under nurtured generation in U.S. history. "Generation X has been called the latchkey generation, a group of people whose personal identity was in part shaped by the independence of being left alone after school" (Erin Blakemore, "The Latchkey Generation: How Bad Was It?" JSTOR Daily, 10/9/16).

While this PSA was meant to get parents thinking about where their children were physically, I would like to take it a different direction. As a child grows, we as parents help to shape the self-concept that child has. This relates to how the child views themselves in relation to the world around them. Religious, cultural and ethnic concepts begin to be formed at a very young age. "Train up a child in the way he should go" is not just a proverb for spirituality (Prov. 22:6). Our influence as parents is vital to a child's relationship with God and society at large. Luke's commentary on the growth of Jesus highlights this: "And Jesus kept increasing in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men" (2:52). Similarly, "Now the boy Samuel was growing in stature and in favor both with the Lord and with men" (1 Sam. 2:26). We see in these two important figures that the physical, spiritual and social aspects of growth were highlighted. These points should also be areas of concern for us as parents.

Do you know where they are spiritually and socially?

The question I would like you to consider is this, "Do you know where your children are?" Do you know how they are growing and developing spiritually and socially? For those with older children, do you know where they stand on spiritual matters? Do you know what their world view is? How do they perceive the world around them and their place in it? In the preteen and adolescent years, these questions become much more important. At that age, they are solidifying and reinforcing their image of self. Do you know what that image is? Is it healthy?

We have a lot to balance as parents. Between the school assignments, activities and household responsibilities, things get lost in the shuffle. Make time periodically to have these conversations with your children. Ask them how they honestly feel and think about issues. Help them reason through their positions. Find out where your children are.

'Tis the season

As we enter this season of receiving, remember that it's not the wrapping job but how much the person spent on the gift that matters. Remember that it's not the thought but the cost of the gift that counts. Remember those two little words to say after opening the gift—"That's it?"

While these opening words are intended to be a bit satirical, how many people do they actually describe? How many people view this time of year as the "season of receiving"? How many people, actually, live by the daily and year-round philosophy, "It is most blessed to receive"?

From the beginning of time, it has always been about "giving" for God! He has given, and given, and given to us! The "season of giving" began in Genesis chapter one and has continued to the present time. Are you celebrating God's season of giving? The life of Jesus, the example of Jesus, the sacrifice of Jesus and the words of Jesus demonstrate clearly the real year-round philosophy of success, "It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35). — DS

"It ain't mine! It's borrowed!"

Have you ever borrowed someone's car? Did you find that you drove that car differently than you drove your own car? What if it was a really nice car—top of the line, all the bells and whistles, and in pristine condition? Would you treat it with extra care? Would you take care of it exactly as the owner would like? Or, do you think you'd fill the gas tank with sand, let your dog do his business in the back seat, and paint graffiti all over the exterior?

Most of us are extra careful when using something that does not belong to us, and we are mindful that it needs to be returned to the owner in the exact condition as it was received, if not better. So, does that same mindset apply to our bodies? Everything that we have is from God (Jas. 1:17), including our very bodies (1 Cor. 6:20). They do not belong to us (1 Cor. 6:19).

So, what I do in my body and to my body and with my body must first pass every borrower's test, "Is this what the owner would want me to do?" Will this "glorify God"? — DS

What Must I Do to Be Saved?

The Bible says...

1. Believe that Jesus is the Son of God

“Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved” (Acts 16:31).

2. Repent of your sinful ways

“Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out” (Acts 3:19).

3. Confess your faith in Jesus

“If you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus...you will be saved” (Rom. 10:9).

4. Be immersed in water

“He who believes and is baptized will be saved” (Mark 16:16).

5. Commit to a lifetime of faithful service

“Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life” (Rev. 2:10).

We have this HOPE as an ANCHOR for the soul.

Hebrews 6:19
