*Thank You,
David & Traci!*

25 YEARS
May 1994-May 2019

On Sunday, May 19th, PBL members had the great joy of honoring David & Traci Sproule for 25 years of faithful service at this congregation. They have been a constant light among us (Matthew 5:16), and we look forward to many more years of laboring together in His Kingdom! We love you, David & Traci!

By Dan Jenkins

God Wrote the Lyrics

Have you seen the commercial where a father and his son are together working in the garage and the son spontaneously says, "I love you, Dad"? Before the aging father got his hearing aids, he had to ask the son to repeat what was said. That all changed after he bought the new hearing aid being advertised. Now when they are working and the son says, "I love you, Dad," his father asked him to repeat what he said simply because he wanted to hear it again. What about our Father? Does He ever tire of hearing us, or does He want to hear us say it again?

Think about singing and praising God. Twice the Bible gives us a view of what is happening around the throne of God. Over seven hundred years before Christ came, Isaiah saw the Lord sitting on His throne with heavenly beings flying around that throne. What were they saying? "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts; the whole earth is full of His glory" (Isa. 6:3). Eight hundred years later, the apostle John saw God on His throne. What did he see? Four heavenly beings flying around the throne. "And they do not rest, day or night, saying: 'Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Who was and is and is to come'" (Rev. 4:8). It was the same. God's will was still being done perfectly in heaven, and the same praise was being given to our God. Have you considered that, when singing songs with this same phrase, we join in the praise with the heavenly chorus praising our God!

I immediately think of two songs we sing where the phrase is found. The chorus of "On Zion's Glorious Summit" has the refrain, "Holy, holy, holy Lord, God of hosts, on high adored!" This song was written over 150 years ago, and Christians have used it since then.

The other song we sing even more often is "Holy, Holy, Holy" and has been sung since the Civil War. Every time it is sung, it duplicates on earth what has eternally happened in heaven. Our God wrote part of the lyrics of this song, and He never tires hearing it.

Add to this the song, "Worthy Art Thou," which we sing. It was written by a brother in Christ, Tillit S. Teddlie, in 1930. I urge you to take the time to look at the lyrics and compare them to what John saw in Revelation chapter four. The lyrics of this song are almost identical to the lyrics of the praise John saw being given to Jesus. The entire creation, even earthly animals, are praising Jesus using these words.

Our point is this. These are not the only songs which use this heavenly language in praising God, but let us sing all of them joyfully. There are newer songs which use them, but the fact that these three songs have fed the souls of those who sang them for centuries speaks highly of them. May we never tire of praising the Holy One who is eternal and worthy.

God help us to never tire of praising the Holy One who is eternal & worthy

Be a Careful Reader

"You should have a look at this website over here. It has a lot of good in-depth Bible studies on it." Sometimes recommendations like this are made to me and other Christians. So, when we venture over to a highly-endorsed site, for what should we be on the lookout? My general practice is to do the same as I've done for years with written Bible commentaries. I look first to see what the writer has to say about baptism. If a commentator on the Bible does not teach exactly what the Bible does about baptism, then a reader needs to be aware of that and to be cautious with other things that writer teaches.

[Two disclaimers: (1) Just because a writer teaches what the Bible does on baptism does not mean he should be trusted on every other thing he says. All he says must be compared with the Scriptures to see if it is "so" (Acts 17:11). (2) Just because a writer does not teach what the Bible does on baptism does not mean that he does not have any helpful information on the Bible. Again, everything he says must be weighed against God's inspired truth.]

One such site was recommended to me recently of "a great Bible scholar," who has a "gift of explaining the Bible and its teaching in a clear and simple way." So, I checked it out. Like many other modern writers, I found what he had to say on baptism to not match what the Scripture teaches. In fact, on a site with hundreds of Bible-based articles, there were only two articles that even touched on the subject of water baptism.

One short article on baptism made the claim that "water baptism" is "the outward act that indicates submission to discipleship." This is an oft repeated phrase (that baptism is an "outward act" or "sign") that lacks Scriptural foundation. There is not a single New Testament verse that calls baptism an "outward act/sign." Therefore, it cheapens and misrepresents God's plan to call it such.

The most notable error that this author made was to repeatedly and intentionally place baptism after one's salvation. Note what he said: "Paul was baptized immediately after he was converted...Immediately after being saved, [the jailer] and his household were baptized...The early church knew nothing of a salvation that was not followed by baptism." Every single statement quoted above contradicts clear and simple Bible teaching. New Testament water baptism always (without one single exception) preceded and lead to one's salvation from sin. It never "followed" one's salvation. Note the order of words in Mark 16:16, Acts 2:38, Acts 22:16, 1 Peter 3:21 and other clear passages. Let's speak where the Bible speaks.

Friend, be a careful reader and a careful listener! Make sure that a gifted scholar says what God says!

Make sure that a gifted scholar says what God says!

Burn the Boats!

In 1519, Spanish explorer and conquistador Hernan Cortes landed on the shores of Mexico having sailed from Cuba. He then had his ships destroyed. There is a lot of myth and debate about how and why. Some say it was to stop any future revolts. Some said he did it under the guise that they were not seaworthy. Still others suggest that he had the ships burned to encourage the men for the task at hand. He was under a lot of pressure from Spain to succeed in his mission of conquest. His message to the men was, "We will either succeed or die trying. Only cowards would go back to the ship." The world may never know the exact reason. However, this idea of a push toward motivation would've been quite effective. There have been many in the Biblical record that have burned the boats.

When the Israelites crossed over the Jordan under the leadership of Joshua, he gave them instruction to follow behind the ark of the covenant about half a mile but to keep it in sight, "that you may know the way by which you shall go, for you have not passed this way before" (Josh. 3:4). They had traveled all over the Sinai wilderness. This was a new place they were going into. It wasn't by accident that the ark went before them. It signified God as their leader along with all the promises He had made and the law He had given them. When we burn the boats, we might be going into new territory.

At the commandments of God, Noah built a boat to figuratively burn the boats of a wicked world (Heb 11:7). What he was doing was for the salvation of eight souls and the condemnation of the rest of the world (1 Pet. 3:20). Noah had faith in the commandments of God to do something that had never been done before. It is possible that when we burned our boats, we launched into a life that none of our family had previously. We had to say goodbye to an old world.

Do you need to burn some boats in you life?

Abraham also had to leave a world behind. God called him into the land of Canaan (Gen. 12:1-3). He had left Ur with his father, Terah, with the intentions of going to Canaan. They made it as far as Haran, now Southern Turkey (Gen. 11:31-32). After the death of his father, Haran, God called him to go and promised him a great nation, great land and a great influence on the nations of the world. He died not seeing any of that by sight, but by faith (Heb. 11:8-13). When Abraham burned the boats, he set things in motion that God had planned from the beginning of time, the salvation of mankind.

There might be some things you are holding onto, some boats that need to be burned in your life. Trust God to go into that new territory. Trust God enough to say goodbye to the world you knew. Trust God enough to see, by faith, what God has set in your life and the life of those after you.

His natural inclination

A person's natural inclination (also known as a person's bent) is the particular manner in which a person reacts to various life situations. Some people's natural inclination/bent is to fight, while others is to draw back; some will complain, while others will stew; many will tend to worry, while others will just laugh it off. What is your natural inclination? You've got one.

May I suggest a Bible character whose natural inclination is one we ought to imitate? No matter what he faced, Nehemiah's inclination (his bent) was always to do one thing. Take a moment and read Nehemiah 1:4-11; 2:4; 4:4-5, 9; 5:19; 6:9, 13:14, 22, 29, 31. Every time he turned around...every time something came up...every time he faced some difficulty, Nehemiah's natural bent was to pray! Draw back? No. Complain? No. Worry? No. Pray? Yes!

Would you like to tell someone how bad things are going? How poorly someone treated you? How miserable you feel? Talk to God! Make that your natural inclination in all situations! – DS

Disagreeing for the sake of disagreeing

In our nation today, we are surrounded by individuals who immediately and automatically disagree with what someone says simply because of the person who is saying it. Certain people disagree with everything the President says (no matter what), or everything a Democrat says, or everything a Republican says, or everything a certain news agency says, etc. They don't really listen to what is being said, as they've pre-decided to disagree no matter what.

May I suggest that there is a reason that God gave us two ears and then put them on opposite sides of our head? While there is obviously an anatomical reason for this, also consider the practical reason—God wants us (1) to listen [so He gave us ears], (2) to listen to more than one opinion on a matter [so He gave us two ears], (3) to listen to opposing sides of an argument [so He put our ears on opposite sides of our head], (4) to intentionally research and rationally consider both sides [so He put our brain in between our ears]. Let us learn to disagree with others based upon knowledge and truth, rather than hatred, anger and prejudice. – DS

What Must I Do to Be Saved?

The Bible says...

1. Believe that Jesus is the Son of God

“Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved” (Acts 16:31).

2. Repent of your sinful ways

“Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out” (Acts 3:19).

3. Confess your faith in Jesus

“If you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus...you will be saved” (Rom. 10:9).

4. Be immersed in water

“He who believes and is baptized will be saved” (Mark 16:16).

5. Commit to a lifetime of faithful service

“Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life” (Rev. 2:10).
