Entering and Leaving Our Gethsemane

Perhaps as we meditate, we should spend more time with Jesus in Gethsemane. On the night of His betrayal, that garden was filled with intense emotions. Do not just read what happened there but take time to feel the emotions: the emotions of the sleeping disciples whom Jesus rebuked; the emotions of Judas as he betrayed the Lord; the emotions of the mob; the emotions of the disciples as they fled. Above all, share in the emotions of Jesus.

They entered Gethsemane, and He left eight apostles and took Peter, James and John with Him to another place. These three men then saw something they had never seen. Their Lord had always seemed so strong and powerful, but now in their presence, “He began to be sorrowful and deeply distressed” (Matt. 26:37). They saw Him in a way they had never seen Him before. They heard Him say, “My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch with Me.”

He prayed, then He came and found them asleep. He had asked them to watch with Him, but they failed. His soul was even more burdened, and the Bible described how great this burden was. “And being in agony, He prayed more earnestly. Then His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the earth” (Luke 22:44). He returned to the three disciples and found them asleep. This time he did not wake them to share His grief and agony with them. He simply returned for the third time and prayed, “Not My will but Your will be done.”

There are at least two ways to look at this simple prayer. One could look at it as though the burden was so great, He was just ready to quit—the fight was not worth it. He was like a frustrated wife or teen who looks at the “master” and throws up their hands and says, “Whatever, I quit. You win.”

However, this is not where Jesus was when He prayed. It is not the prayer of one who had hopelessly fought a losing fight, nor one who had no hope and was driven by circumstances into surrender. It was a prayer of perfect trust. He was talking to His Father He had known eternally. It was a prayer from the heart of One who was loved to a God who is love. He trusted in God and this changed Him.

Notice how He then changed. The mob arrived; the arrest; the mockery of several trials. He entered Gethsemane in gloom and left this garden with calm assurance. He was a victim, but He understood He was a victorious victim. What made that difference? What changed a troubled soul in great agony to one of calm assurance? It is simple. He talked to the Father. When you are in despair and you are almost ready to quit, talk to the Father, and His peace will change you and give you the victory.

Jesus entered Gethsemane and was so different when He left. Why?

Where Is “Your Church” on Sunday?

Different people “go to church” different places on Sunday. That’s pretty obvious, isn’t it? Where is “your church”? That may sound like a simple question, or it may sound like an odd question. Consider this as the context.

In a recent issue of Sun Sentinel, there was a Community News report about an event called “Cars & Coffee Palm Beach,” which is “a monthly showcase of thousands of custom, classic and exotic vehicles” in the outlet mall parking lot. But, here is how the article begins.

“For motorheads, a monthly Sunday meetup at the Palm Beach Outlets is their church and the parking lot is their pew. Yes, Cars & Coffee Palm Beach is a religious experience for car guys (and gals) of all types.

“They pray for a prime parking spot and read from the gospels of Ford, Chevy, Dodge and Lamborghini. They gather to worship vehicles from Audi to Zephyr.

“Doting owners wash and vacuum their rides—a hot rod Sunday best, if you will—in anticipation of their flock of admirers who line the curb with cell phones in hand to catch a glimpse as they parade in ‘Fast and Furious’ style.

“Whether they’ve been cruising the beach, mudding or peeling out, drivers wash away the sins of the week with a wax job that would make Mr. Miyagi proud.”

The lighthearted comparison between “The Car Show” and “Sunday church” is a sad (but realistic) commentary on our society today. In a very real sense, individuals have made “their church” on Sundays something very different than what the Lord had in mind for His day! The question is, Have you?

Where is “your church” on Sunday? Have you replaced where God wants you to be with “His church” on Sundays (and doing what He wants) with “your church”? Is “your church” in your bed? On the lake? At the beach? On the course? At the game? On the sofa? “The Car Show” is “their church.” What is “your church”?

Too many Christians have replaced “His church” with their own church, and too many have convinced themselves that they are ok. “I deserve this.” “I need this.” “I can’t cope or continue if I don’t do this.” “Going to church is too much for me right now.”

God’s church assembles every first day of the week to worship Him! Do you? Or do you have “your church”?

A monthly Sunday meetup at the Palm Beach Outlets is their church.

The Psalms, A Balm for the Heart

Have you read the Psalms lately? They contain such striking language, fluid meter, beautiful imagery, and a wide range of emotion. They communicate to the human heart unlike any other form of poetry. In Psalm 86, we see the format of prayer that is repeated in the collection of Psalms.

The psalm begins with a plea to be heard, “Incline Your ear, O LORD, and answer me” (Psa. 86:1). It is repeated in verse six, “Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer; And give heed to the voice of my supplications!” We have an innate need to be heard. When we are in distress, we cry out for help. That is no different for the writer of this psalm. He cries out to the One who he knows will help. “In the day of my trouble I shall call upon You, for You will answer me” (Psa. 86:7). There is a confidence in the deliverance of the Lord in the heart of the writer. It is as though he has been in this place before, and he is confident that God can get him out again. “For You are great and do wondrous deeds; You alone are God” (Psa. 86:10).

The writer, possibly David, says that he is “afflicted and needy” and that his soul needs rescued. “O God, arrogant men have risen up against me, And a band of violent men have sought my life, and they have not set You before them” (Psa.

86:14). How many of us can relate to that concept—to be in a place that there seems none stand with you? Many of God’s servants have been in that very situation. Standing alone against evil. Standing alone for the faith. But, have they ever really been alone? We all hope in what God has promised, “I will never leave you or forsake you” (Deut. 31:6; Heb 13:5).

With a confident expectation that God will provide just what has been asked, he has another request: “Teach me Your way, O LORD; I will walk in Your truth; unite my heart to fear Your name” (Psa. 86:11). The servant of God sees the need to be connected to God through His word. As much as he wants to be heard by God, he is willing to listen also. There is a need for us to acknowledge to God that we are listening, that we will obey what He has put in place in our lives. This brings us into unity with the fear of the Lord.

Finally, being confident in the outcome of this prayer the psalmist writes, “Show me a sign for good, that those who hate me may see it and be ashamed, because You, O LORD, have helped me and comforted me” (Psa. 86:17). He wants his life to be an example to those who opposed him. He wants his oppressors to know that it was God that delivered him from their hand. Our answered prayers are not to just relieve us from a burden. They are also a testimony to those around us that God has done this in my life, and He can do it in yours.

Our answered prayers stand as a testimony of a loving God.

We make mistakes

You’ve met a lot of people in your life, right? That means you have met all sorts of different kinds of people. So, who was the last perfect person you met? Do you remember his or her name? The last person you knew who didn’t make any mistakes? Say the name out loud right now. Go ahead. What’s with the silence?

You know a dirty little secret about all of us—a secret that’s not so “dirty” and not so “little.” We all make mistakes!!! All of us! How much better (and more peaceful and less stressful) our lives would be if we would remember that! Could you remember that the next time the person at the drive-thru messes up your order...the next time your spouse forgets to do something he/she was asked to do...the next time your kids make a poor choice...the next time a brother or sister in Christ lets you down...the next time a driver isn’t watching where he’s going...the next time someone who should know better acts like he doesn’t know better? – DS

It doesn’t have to be “a racial thing”

Friends, we are destroying ourselves. We are allowing outside influences to shape our thinking. We are giving others too much control over our minds. We are listening to politicians and media tell us that everything has some kind of “racial overtone.” But, it doesn’t! And it doesn’t have to!

Every issue does not have a racial slant. Every post doesn’t need a racial flavor. If everything is “a racial thing” to you, that is because you are making it that way—not because it actually is.

Are you a child of God? We need to see things the way our Father sees things. “God shows no partiality” (Acts 10:34). None! God is ready to “accept” persons from “every nation” or every nationality (10:35)! So should (and must!) we! Our Father commands us to not look at others “with partiality” (Jas. 2:1; cf. Deut. 1:17). He then goes on to say that “if you show partiality, you are committing sin” (2:9). SIN! It doesn’t matter what someone else says, does or looks like! If you are prejudiced against ANY person because of their race, YOU SIN! If you read that and apply it to others but not to yourself, you sin! Please, let’s stop destroying ourselves! – DS
