One “Innocent” Choice Lead to the Fall of Jerusalem

The death of Solomon brought about a division to his powerful kingdom when ten of the twelve tribes of Israel refused to accept Solomon’s son as the next king. They established a new kingdom, known as Israel, with their own king. They not only turned away from the house of David but tragically turned away from God.

For two hundred years, God’s messengers, the prophets, pleaded with the new kingdom to return to God, but it never happened. They had a total of nineteen kings and not a single one of them ever served God faithfully.

When God ultimately sent the Assyrian army to destroy rebellious Israel, Hezekiah was king of the small southern kingdom known as Judah. The Assyrians first destroyed Israel and then sent this army to do the same to the southern kingdom. Hezekiah turned to God for help, who completely destroyed the Assyrian army, killing 185,000 Assyrians in one night. His great faith in God stands as one of the greatest illustrations of what God can do for those who trust Him.

However, Hezekiah later made a mistake which ultimately brought about the destruction of the Solomon’s temple and the captivity of the Jews. Just eight years after the fall of Israel, Isaiah came to Hezekiah from God, saying that he was about to die. Hezekiah, not yet forty years old, turned again to God, and his prayer changed the mind of God. Instead of dying, God added fifteen years to Hezekiah’s life.

Evidently his recovery was widely known. One kingdom, a very small insignificant one at that time, sent an envoy with letters and a gift to “celebrate” his recovery. Hezekiah foolishly showed them all of the wealth and the grandeur of his kingdom. That small kingdom was meaningless when compared to the great kingdoms of the world. Hezekiah described them to Isaiah being from “a far country.” A hundred years later, that small kingdom became powerful Babylon and destroyed Jerusalem and plundered all of its treasure.

Hezekiah did not see how showing his kingdom could ever bring ruin, but it did. Innocent choices can lead to great ruin. Teens’ choices of ungodly friends have destroyed many. “Innocent” flirtations in the office have lead to adultery. That first drink, lowering the inhibition to do wrong, has brought tragedy to many. The list is endless. As you make decisions, remember it was one “innocent” mistake which brought ruin to Jerusalem and brings ruin to many lives today.

Ask God to give you wisdom and turn to His book of wisdom to avoid “innocent” mistakes which ruin lives.

One “innocent” decision can lead to ruin. Let God give you wisdom to avoid them

When Paul Was Quarantined: Reconciliation Found in Christ

When you’re staring at the same four walls for weeks and weeks on end, it is easy to think about “what I want” and “what others need to do for me.” If any Bible character could have thought like that, maybe Paul could have when wrongfully imprisoned in Rome for “two whole years” (Acts 28:30), but he did just the opposite. Paul had his mind firmly fixed on others and was trying to reconcile differing groups, including “the Jews” and “the Gentiles” (28:28-29). During this time, Paul wrote a letter to his Christian friend, Philemon, about the need to reconcile his relationship with Onesimus, as brothers in Christ.

While in quarantine, Paul focused on “receiving” a brother who has wronged you, in order to bring about reconciliation. The key word in Paul’s letter to Philemon is the word “receive” (v. 12, 15, 17). There may have been some other verbs that Philemon would have liked to have exercised toward his runaway slave who had “wronged” him (v. 18), but to “receive” him, and “no longer as a slave” (v. 16), would have been a real challenge. But reconciliation “in Christ,” done properly, takes real effort.

While in quarantine, Paul focused on “love” in response to a brother who has wronged you, in order to bring about reconciliation. Some form of the word “love” is found six times in this short letter. Paul referred to Philemon and his wife as “beloved” (v. 1-2), and then bid him to see Onesimus as “beloved” (v. 16). Paul praised Philemon for his agape “love” (v. 5, 7) and bid him to respond for agape “love’s sake” (v. 9). Unconditional, unselfish behavior that puts another above self can be a real challenge. But reconciliation “in Christ,” done properly, takes real effort.

While in quarantine, Paul focused on seeing one who has wronged you as a “brother,” in order to bring about reconciliation. Paul used the word “brother” four times in this letter, referring to Timothy as “our brother” (v. 1) and referring to Philemon twice as his “brother” (v. 7, 20). As much (and no less) as Paul, Timothy and Philemon were all “brothers,” so was Onesimus. In fact, he was to be seen as “a beloved brother” (v. 16). Seeing (and then treating) one who has done you wrong as an equal “brother” can be difficult. But reconciliation “in Christ” takes real effort.

While in quarantine, Paul focused on “Christ” as the key to bring about reconciliation. Onesimus was a brother “in the Lord” (v. 16), and Paul longed for Philemon to bring about “joy” and refreshing of heart “in the Lord” (v. 20). Christ is the reason and the only means by which true reconciliation can be accomplished. It takes effort, but so did the sacrifice of Christ on the cross to reconcile us to Him!

With all of this extra time on my hands, with whom do I need to work on being reconciled in Christ?

Reconciliation “in Christ,” done properly, takes real effort

What We Can Know

In uncertain situations, we hold on to what we can know. Firm knowledge is always preferred over maybe or what if. We have not been left without certainties. In the letter of First John he used the word “know” twenty-nine times in five chapters. The only book with more is his account of the gospel with seventy-five. God, through John, wants us to know and have assurance.

“By this we know that we have come to know Him, if we keep His commandments... By this we know that we are in Him: the one who says he abides in Him ought himself to walk in the same manner as He walked” (1 John 2:3, 5b-6). We know Jesus is not about a personal encounter or feeling. It is about obedience. We know Christ and are known by Him when we are obedient. In knowing Him, we begin to conduct our lives after His manner, even to the point of personal sacrifice.

“We know love by this, that He laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 John 3:16). He doesn’t begin writing about how we should die for one another but how we should see to the needs of our brethren. “Let us not love with word or with tongue, but in deed and truth” (1 John 3:18). Our heart can condemn us in this, but “if our heart does not condemn us, we have confidence before God” (1 John 3:21). God wants us to grow to a point that we can stand before Him in confidence. An integral part of that is love.

“We have come to know and have believed the love which God has for us. God is love, and the one who abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him. By this, love is perfected with us, so that we may have confidence in the day of judgment; because as He is, so also are we in this world” (1 John 4:16-17). It is one thing to have heard of the love that God has for us, but it is another thing to know it and believe in it. This relationship we have with God is founded on His great love for us that was manifested in the death of His Son. We, in turn, respond to that love with obedience. In so doing, we have a relationship with God that is the perfection or completion of love. What God started in love with the death of Jesus has come to completion when those that He died for return the love in simple obedience. Then, we can stand in confidence on the day of judgment. Why? “Because as He is, so also are we in this world” (1 John 4:17). How is that? We walk as Christ did, in love and abiding in the Father and the Father in us.

John wrote so that we can know. “These things I have written to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, so that you may know that you have eternal life” (1 John 5:13).

John wrote so that we can know.

Since we believe, therefore we...

There are a number of factors that motivate us to action. Some slam their brakes on at a yellow light because they fear getting a ticket. Some work extra hard on the job because they long for praise from their boss. Many factors drive us to action—fear, praise, love, hate, money, etc.

What kind of motivating factor is faith? Does our faith move us to action? Paul wrote, “We also believe and therefore speak” (2 Cor. 4:13). Does your faith in anything cause you speak? Some believe so strongly in their personal political views, or so strongly in the potential of Essential Oils, or so strongly in the abilities of their children that they speak, and speak, and speak all about these things. It is set so firmly in their hearts that it’s all they want to talk about.

What about our faith in Jesus? What about our faith in “the dying of the Lord Jesus” (4:10) and “the life of Jesus” (4:10, 11)? How strong is our faith that “He who raised up the Lord Jesus will also raise us up with Jesus” (4:14)? Is it so firm that “therefore we speak”? If not, why not? – DS

“Bring it on! I’m ready!”

On his third missionary journey, Paul was hurrying to reach Jerusalem for the Day of Pentecost (Acts 20:16; 18:21), perhaps so that he might find many souls in need of the gospel. As he got closer and closer to arriving in the city, his Christian friends tried to dissuade him from going there (21:4). In fact, when the prophet Agabus warned that he would be arrested and given over to the Romans (21:11), all of his friends “pleaded with him not to go” (21:12).

Consider carefully (and personally) Paul’s response to them: “What do you mean by weeping and breaking my heart?” (21:13a). Think about that part first. Then, he continued, “For I am ready not only to be bound, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus” (21:13b). What kind of person can make statements like that? The kind of person who wrote in a letter not long before this time, “I have been crucified with Christ” (Gal. 2:20).

When you think about potential mistreatment that may come your way for being a Christian, what is your typical response? – DS
