The Danger of Philosophy

The church in Colosse was predominately Gentile and had grown up in a pagan world. However, there were those Judaizing teachers who had come among them and sought to force Gentile Christians to become circumcised and keep many rituals of the Judaism. They had left pagan worship with all the rituals of idolatry and now faced a new challenge of those who wanted to bind the rituals of Judaism on them. Paul's words in Colossians chapter two deals with both paganism and Jewish ritualism.

Paul reminded them of what had happened in their conversion to Christ. They had embraced Jesus as their Messiah and Lord. Paganism had elements of the gods coming and were gods living among men, but Christianity involved the reality that God became a mortal and lived on this earth. He was Immanuel, but He also was Lord and they had committed themselves to His authority (v. 6).

He uses three descriptive phrases to encourage them to remain faithful. He first uses a military term, "walk in Him" (v. 6). He was their commander in chief. There was no other commander, either in paganism or Judaism. Then he said they were "rooted...in Him" (v. 7). Like the roots of a large tree extended into the depths of the earth, so their faith had been deeply implanted in the Christ (v. 7). Jesus is Himself described as the Root of Jesse. "There shall be a root of Jesse; and He who shall rise to reign over the Gentiles, in Him the Gentiles shall hope" (Rom. 15:12). The Colossians had been rooted in the One who is truly the Root.

The third term used by Paul is that they were "built up in Him and established in the faith" (v. 7). They had learned the truth and the truth had set them free from paganism and Judaism. When one fully appreciates this, Satan has no power to draw him away from the Lord.

Paul then warns them to beware of the danger of being deceived and carried away through philosophy and empty deceit (v. 8). Secular wisdom has its place, but it can never replace the wisdom from above. Far too many Christians have decided they know more about life and God than their Creator. The definition of philosophy is the love of wisdom, but we must never forget the true wisdom from the One who is wise!

He then mentions the danger of living by the traditions of men (v. 8). Again, let us be reminded that there are Divine traditions (2 Thess. 2:15; 3:6), and there are the religious traditions which come from the hearts of mortals. So, as you live your lives, develop your concepts of morality and marriage, and right and wrong, stay rooted and grounded in Him.

As you live your lives, and develop your moral values, stay grounded in Him

Salvation: It Requires Man to Have Faith

In the discussion of salvation from sin, it is critical to state and be reminded that: (1) it is man who does the sinning, and (2) it is GOD who does the saving! Our salvation is only possible by the grace of God (Eph. 2:5). We do not deserve it (Rom. 3:23), and we certainly cannot earn it (Eph. 2:9). However, the Bible does teach that man has a part in his salvation, and the foundation of that response to God is FAITH.

When talking about "faith," it is essential to understand and use that word in the way that the Bible uses that word. The Bible describes faith in Hebrews 11:1 as the "substance" or "assurance" (i.e., the very foundation) of things "hoped for" that are promised by God, and it is the "evidence" or "convicting proof" that Bible things we have not seen are indeed real. This is NOT a leap in the dark! It is based upon solid evidence.

But Biblical faith is not merely a mental assent to Bible teachings or simply trusting Jesus to be who He claimed. The Bible illustrates in Hebrews 11 what true faith is, providing numerous examples of how "faith" was the motivation and foundation of active obedience. Read the words "by faith" throughout Hebrews 11, and then read the verbs that follow, emphasizing a faith that acts. This Biblical description of faith corresponds precisely with the definitions that scholars have given of the Greek word. W.E. Vine and J.H. Thayer have both noted three common components of Biblical faith: (1) firm conviction, (2) trustful surrender, (3) obedience. Therefore, when one uses the word "faith" in the way that the Bible uses the word, it goes hand-in-hand with actively obeying.

The Bible repeatedly teaches that faith is required in order to be "saved" from sin (Acts 16:31; Mark 16:16; Eph. 2:8), to be "justified" (Rom. 5:1), to "receive the remission of sins" (Acts 10:43), to have "everlasting life" (John 3:16), to "become children of God" (John 1:12; Gal. 3:26), to avoid "the lake [of] fire" (Rev. 21:8). However, there is no verse in Scripture that teaches man is saved from sin by faith alone.

The Bible affirms that "a man is justified... not by faith only" (Jas. 2:24), for "faith by itself...is dead" (2:17). "Faith alone" does not save, otherwise "the demons," who "believe and tremble," would be saved (2:19). If one is saved by faith alone, then he is saved before and without repenting of his sins (Luke 13:3; Acts 2:38), confessing his faith in Jesus (Matt. 10:32-33; Rom. 10:9-10), being baptized (Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38), calling on the name of the Lord (Rom. 10:13-17), and becoming a child of God (John 1:11-12).

Man has a part in his salvation. He must believe Jesus is the Son of God! A true, saving faith will obey God's will fully.

It goes hand-in-hand with actively obeying.

Who Can You Trust?

When Covid-19 struck, we all became willing to take whatever precautions we could to prevent contracting and spreading the virus to our friends and families.

Immediately, people began buying sanitary masks in bulk. Soon, the CDC told us to stop buying them. The masks cannot prevent you from getting the virus. They said, “trust the science!” A few weeks later, the CDC changed their stance. Now, we need to wear masks everywhere we go. “Trust the science!” they said. The next year, the vaccine was rolled out. We were told that if we didn’t get the vaccine, we were putting people’s lives in danger. Again, they said, “trust the science!” Now, it is unclear how effective, if at all, the vaccine is.

The truth is you can’t always trust science. Science is always changing because what is known changes so long as new evidence is discovered. We are finite beings, so no matter how much we learn, we cannot know everything. If we knew it all, then we would be omniscient. This is the absolute knowledge of all things. The only being capable of omniscience is God. Strong defines this in his Systematic Theology. “By this we mean God’s perfect and eternal knowledge of all things which are objects of knowledge, whether they be actual or possible, past, present, or future.”

God holds all the variables. He has always known every conclusion.

God truly knows everything. Nothing can be hidden from Him (Heb. 4:13). His understanding cannot be measured (Psa. 147:5). He sees everything (Prov. 15:3). He knows the smallest of details about each of us individually, including the hairs on our heads (Matt. 10:30). He even knows what is in our hearts (Psa. 139:4). God has a full grasp of everything into eternity. And, His knowledge does not change. Therefore, truth resides in God. Jesus said, “I am the way, the truth, and the life.” (John 14:6).

“The science” changes. Man’s best efforts to understand the world around him will always come up short. There will always be a better theory or a new conclusion as we gather more data. But God holds all the variables. He has always known every conclusion.

So, when we look to determine how we ought to live, why do we go to the world for answers? The world is still trying to figure it out. If you ask ten people what is right and wrong, you will likely get ten different answers. God, on the other hand, has known and decided in eternity. The God of truth continued in John 14:16, “No one comes to the Father except through Me.” Righteousness is only found in Jesus Christ. That is the truth, and we can trust the truth because the all-knowing God revealed it to us. We cannot always trust “the science,” but God can always be trusted.

Help a brother out!

By both His words and His actions, Jesus emphasized the need to help out a brother who is in need. Jesus noted that since anyone would help their donkey or ox out of a pit that he should be willing to do what he can when he can to help out a brother even more (Luke 14:1-5).

Of course, Jesus did not limit that help to meeting physical needs. Most importantly, we are to help a brother with his spiritual needs. When we find a brother who has allowed something to obstruct his view from rightly serving the Lord (even something as small as a “speck” in the eye), we are to “first” consider ourselves and our own shortcomings and work to correct those (Matt. 7:5; Jas. 1:23-24; Gal. 6:1), and “then” we are to go to our brother and seek to assist him (using the “measure” of God’s righteous judgment, Matt. 7:2; John 7:24) “to remove the speck” from his eye.

Jesus said, “If your eye is bad, your whole body is full of darkness” (6:23). We need to help each other out, to make sure that we are all seeing and going in the right direction (cf. Jas. 5:19-20). – DS

Go ahead, don’t forgive!

Forgiveness can be hard. Have you ever said (or heard someone say), “I will NEVER forgive him/her for that!”? Or, “How could I ever forgive him/her for that?” Yes, forgiveness is hard! But, when you choose to not forgive, you are disobeying a command of Jesus Christ. Jesus said, “If your brother sins against you, rebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him” (Luke 17:3). And not just “seven times in a day” (Luke 17:4), “but up to seventy times seven” (Matt. 18:22).

When you choose to not forgive, you cannot pray and ask God to forgive you of your sins. “Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors” (Matt. 6:12). My sins, debts, trespasses will only be forgiven if I “forgive men their trespasses” (6:14-15). When you choose to not forgive, you will not receive mercy on the day of judgment, “For judgment is without mercy to the one who has shown no mercy” (Jas. 2:13).

So, go ahead and hold on to that grudge! It’s yours to hold! Or, you can forgive and be forgiven and be released from the burden of that bitterness! Your choice! – DS
